Husband charged with slaying

LIVERMORE — The 39-year-old husband of a woman found beaten to death at the Crest Hotel Saturday morning has been charged with murder.

Norman Forgason was arraigned yesterday in Livermore on charges he murdered his wife, Barbara Nell Forgason, 40, in a small room at the Crest Hotel on North Livermore Avenue late Friday.

The fully-clothed body was discovered at 2:15 Saturday morning by an acquaintance of the dead woman. Police said she had been dead several hours.

Officers went to the Cabrillo Avenue home where the Forgasons resided and informed Norman Forgason of his wife's death. He was taken to the police station for questioning, and arrested after autopsy results were announced.

Police released this chronicle of events leading up to the murder:

The Forgasons and another couple, Karen Sue Seibold, 25, and Melvin Silvera, manager of the Crest Hotel, went drinking at the 125 Club Friday night.

Barbara Forgason later said she was not feeling well and went up to room 26 at the hotel to relax.

About one hour later, Silvera decided he would go to his room and go to sleep. Police said all four persons were aware that Silvera's room was no. 26.

Meanwhile, Forgason and Seibold went to the Lounge, then came back to the 125 Club. Suddenly Forgason slammed his glass down on the counter and went up to find his wife, and Seibold followed.

Police investigators, led by Det. Sgt. Bill Bankert, said that Forgason allegedly went upstairs and beat both his wife and Silvera.

The county coroner's office said at least four blows were dealt to the side of Barbara Forgason's head. One of those blows broke a blood vessel, which forced pressure to build up between the brain and skull.

Barbara Forgason could have walked away from those blows and lived "for some time" afterwards, a pathologist said. A blood-stained towel in her right hand and bloodstains in the bathroom indicated she may have applied treatment to herself before succumbing to sub-dural hemotoma, extreme pressure on the brain.

Norman Forgason apparently went to his 3006 Cabrillo Ave. home. Silvera was treated for minor injuries and stayed at his son's home.

Seibold remained at the hotel to manage for Silvera. She attempted to rent the room to another bar patron when she discovered the body at 2:15 Saturday morning.

Police reports indicate at least two persons saw the body through an open door lying on the bed well before the alleged murder was discovered.

Forgason, a carpenter, was booked on suspicion of voluntary manslaughter. The district attorney charged him with murder.

An obituary is printed on pg. 2.

Special book coming

DUBLIN — The Dublin Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring the publication of a special phone book that will list residents and businesses of Dublin, San Ramon and Pleasanton under one cover.

Chamber directors voted unanimously last night to proceed with the plan as soon as contractural agreements can be worked out with the publisher.

Directory Sales Associates, Inc. of Castro Valley will publish the directory. Both white and yellow pages will be printed in the new book.

Under the present set up, Dublin's businesses have to buy yellow page space in both the Central Contra Costa County and Livermore — Pleasaton phone books in order to reach their markets. They claim their best market lies in the Pleasanton area.

The problem lies in distribution, not content, according to Dublin business representatives. Both phone books have Dublin information in the white pages, but not in the yellow pages.

The fact that Dublin and San Ramon lie on the county line causes the problem, according to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph.

Dublin advertisers claim advertising costs have nearly tripled. It costs them twice as much for a quarter page in the CCCC book as it does in the Livermore — Pleasanton directory.

The new Dublin Chamber sponsored books will make it possible for Dublin advertisers to reach the market with only one advertising cost.

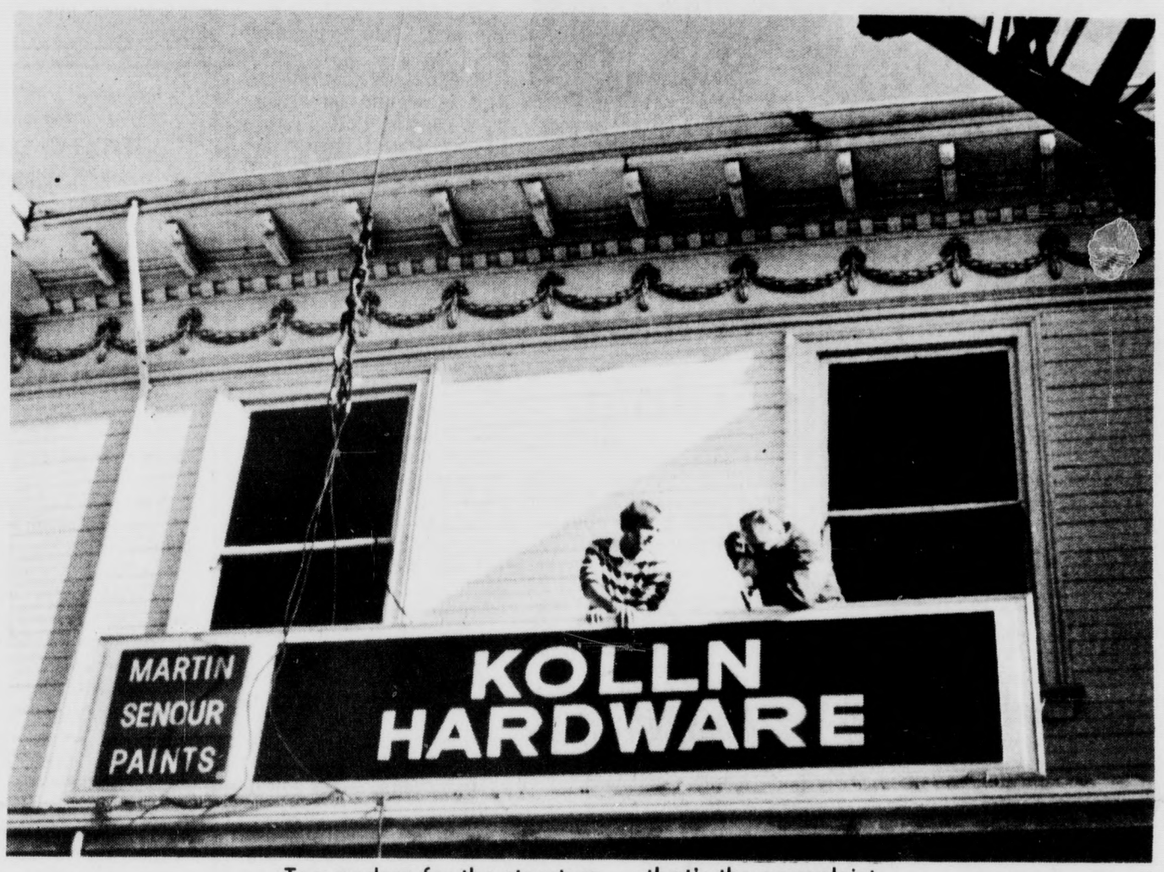
The proposed book will reach 3,874 households and 532, businesses in Dublin; 4,431 households and 126 businesses in San Ramon; and 10,554 households and 471 businesses in Pleasanton.

Bulletin

PLEASANTON — Mayor Robert Philcox announced last night that the city no longer desires to host KNBR's "Good Times Roll" parade.

With the authorization of other council members Philcox will send a letter to the radio station notifying them of the city's desire to cancel the parade.

Councilman Ken Mercer said the parade outgrew the city.



Too-modern for the structure — that's the complaint.

A thoroughly modern sign ought to go

PLEASANTON — The new sign on Kolln Hardware is too starkly modern for an 85-year old landmark, says the city planning staff, and it should be changed.

The decision about whether it must be changed will be up to the planning commission's design review board when it meets at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow in the CitY Council Chambers, 30 W. Angela St.

The new illuminated sign was erected a few weeks ago, replacing a larger, unilluminated sign erected in the 1940's. The new sign has five different colors and "stark modern lines," something not in keeping with the structure's Victorian architecture, said the staff.

The staff also objects that the sign advertises a product, Martin Senour paints, in addition to the store, an extra that is forbidden by the city's sign ordinance, although the design review board can grant an exemption on that point if it wishes.

The staff objects to the five colors because it feels they are "not compatible with the overall design theme which the design review board is trying to establish for the downtown."

Store owner Jack Kolln paid nothing for the sign, said the staff, because it was donated by the paint manufacturer, but he did have to pay for its installation.

Swimming closure— two views of an edict

DUBLIN — Valley Community Services District, which shut down its Dublin High School swimming pool last Tuesday afternoon in line with what it thinks about an order from the Public Utilities Commission, ought to reopen that pool, Diane Schinnerer believes.

The pool was shut down in response to the PUC's plea to save natural gas in California for shipment to the East, but VCSD has been unreasonable about it, Schinnerer told The Times yesterday.

She attended a regional swim meet in Oregon over the weekend and couldn't find a single California swimmer or coach who had heard of any pool shutdowns in their areas, which included Los Angeles and many other communities across the state.

Schinnerer's daughter is an AAU swimmer.

VCSD has been using a literal interpretation of the PUC swimming pool order, which reads, "natural gas shall not be caused or permitted to be used for the purpose of swimming pool heating unless such heating is required for medical purposes."

VCSD General Manager Paul Ryan interprests that to mean you heat a pool only for medical purposes, and VCSD's pool is not a big Jacuzzi whirlpool. The PUC's public information officer, Eugene Raleigh, has been giving out the literal interpretation, too, though he is aware of a notable exception to it.

The notable exception is PUC President Robert Battinovich's letter to mayors of all affected cities which states that there may be reasons other than medical motives for heating a swimming pool. It's up to local mayors and other public officials to decide which of their pools should be shut down, said Batinovich's letter. Then the mayors consult the PUC for approval of their plans.

The assumption is that local jurisdictions should shut down all their pools unless there is a reasonable expectation that the gas conservation plan they draw up will be approved by the PUC. In that case there is no sense in shutting down the pool, said Edmund Texeria, supervising utilities engineer for the PUC.

"We're looking for gas conservation, what's required for a community," said Texeira.

Schinnerer said that Ryan should not have closed the pool at 4 p.m. last Tuesday, but should have waited until that evening's meeting of the VCSD board to get public policy input on the question.

Ryan was unavailable for comment yesterday afternoon.

Braeseke wins waiver

The murder trial of Barry Braeseke, accused of killing his parents and grandfather in their Dublin home last August, was postponed yesterday on a general time waiver.

Braeske will return to court Feb. 28 at 9:30 a.m. in department four of superior court in Oakland on a defense motion to suppress prosecution evidence. Attorney James Crew is arguing that a taped statement made by Braeseke hours after the shootings should not be admitted as evidence.

Braeseke and 16-year-old David Barker of San Ramon are accused of shooting to death Floyd, Barbara and John Braeseke Aug. 23 in their 11418 Betlen Drive home. In the taped confession, Braeseke said that while under the influence of drugs, he was convined by Barker to commit the slayings for the inheritance.

Braeseke's trial is scheduled to begin March 15 at 9 a.m. in department 11 of superior court in Oakland.

Four-hour surgery

Fifty-six year old George Doran spent four hours in surgery at Valley Memorial Hospital late last night following a motorcycle accident that knocked him 26 feet through the air.

Doran and his wife, address unknown, were looking at mobile homes at the Vineyard Mobile Villa in Pleasanton shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a motorcycle driven by 23-year-old Blaine Leslie Larios.

Doran was rushed to Valley Memorial Hospital where he was listed in fair condition at the start of surgery. Larios was treated at VMH and released.

Police still are investigating the accident.

"Quick thinking"

"Quick thinking on the father's part" saved 22-month-old Matthew Walls yesterday, according to Pleasanton police.

The youngster had been suffering from chicken pox and was congested when he fell inside his 525 Junipero Ct. home in Pleasanton and stopped breathing. Eugene Walls, the father, revived his son with mouth to mouth resuscitation until the city's fire department arrived

Young Matthew was rushed to Valley Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

Pops concert

The Granada High School Pops Concert will enliven The Barn Thursday night, 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for students, and include free popcorn and punch as well as lots of entertainment.

The Barn is located behind the Livermore police station off South Livermore Avenue.

CARD members position

The CARD Committee, a local citizens group, will be asked to take a position on the best method to solve the Valley's sewer effluent export problems when the group meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the Pleasanton Hotel.

John Fraga, co - chairman of the club, said that CARD will ask others in the Valley to also endorse CARD's position. Members of the group have been active in pushing for total recycling of water in the Valley, while most local leaders favor a pipeline to carry treated effluent out of the Valley.

Oak Tree faces board

The controversial application for Oak Tree Center at Valley Avenue and Hopyard Road will come before the Pleasanton planning commission's design review board at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow in the City Council Chambers.

Neighbors won their fight to prevent an adjacent 1.8 acre parcel to be used for center parking, but they still are keeping an eye on design aspects which could affect truck traffic on the site.

What you see isn't always there

What you see isn't always what you get in ponying up for a bottle of your favorite California wine.

And to change all that, wine makers and the federal government will knock heads in San Francisco this week over two conflicting proposals. Both efforts are aimed at strengthening labeling laws and "Americanizing" the wine industry.

"We're talking about the Americanization of wine," said John De Luca, president of the California Wine Institute, the association representing nearly all winemakers in the state. "We're preparing for the next decades of wine development."

Although the institute's proposals differ from rules offered by the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the hearings "will not be an adversary situation," De Luca added.

The BATF last fall proposed sweeping changes, the first since Prohibition, that include "sealed" wines to designate those made under stricter rules. Some of the state's most prestigious vintners reportedly support the federal recomendations, but not the Valley's two leading wine makers.

Both Joseph Concannon and Eric Wente see loopholes in the federal rules. And those gaps could mislead the buying public, they told The Times.

The two world - famed vintners favor the wine institute's counter suggestions, and may offer their own opinions at this week's three days of hearings.

A BATF "sealed wine" would have to be at least 85 per cent of the specific varietal grape named on the DUBLIN — Five suspects were arrested approximately one hour after a San Ramon man was beaten and robbed early Sunday, deputies reported.

William McKown, 21, of San Ramon, told deputies he had been beaten and robbed of $115 at Alcosta Boulevard and Village Parkway by several men in a small station wagon.

About one hour after the attack, Sgt. Robert Bush and Dep. Pat Cowles stopped a car matching a description of the suspect vehicle less than one mile from the scene.

The victim reportedly identified the suspects as the attackers, deputies said. The $115 taken from McKown was recovered.

Booked on suspicion of robbery were Steven Boehm, 18, 7343 Kolb Place, John Mendoza, 18, and Rick Camy, 20, both of 6880 Portage Road, and Larry Hetherington, 18, Allegheny Drive, all of Dublin; and Kevin Bukowatz, 19, 405 Old Orchard Court, Danville.

Vandals hit First Street businesses

LIVERMORE — Vandals struck several First Street establishments Saturday, breaking light fixtures and spraying black paint across walls, police reported.

Paint damage was discovered at Dairy Belle, Livermore Paint Center and Valley Furniture Auction. Seven PG&E meters were also covered with paint. Light fixtures at two businesses were broken.

Police said the recurring vandalism problem is caused by a group of juveniles in the area. There are no suspects at this time.

Two youths arrested in residential burglary

DUBLIN — Two Dublin youths have been arrested in possession of goods taken from a Bristol Road home in late January.

An investigation led by Sgt. Dave Bricknell of the sheriff's department led to the arrests of two youths, aged 16 and 14 years.

Camera equipment, an 8-track player and $185 cash were among $660 in goods taken from Nancy Cole's home Jan. 26. The suspects were booked on suspicion of burglary.

Car burglarized at Granada Bowl

LIVERMORE — Burglars forced open the wing window to a car parked in Granada Bowl's parking lot Saturday and took $200 in electronic gear.

Robert Lynn Douglas of Pleasanton told police a Midland brand citizens band radio and an 8-track tape player, both mounted on slide brackets under the dash, had been stolen. There are no suspects.

Suspects arrested in vending machine burglary

PLEASANTON — A 16-year-old boy and his 15-year-old female companion were arrested Sunday evening as they allegedly attempted to remove quarters from a postage stamp machine at the U.S. Post Office on Black Avenue.

A patrolling sheriff's deputy spotted the suspects working at the machine and informed Pleasanton police. Officer Donald Saulsbury responded and arrested the pair after watching their activities.

An ice pick and five quarters with defaced edges were confiscated from the suspects and placed into evidence.

Goods stolen from car on Calienta

LIVERMORE — Burglars forced their way into a locked Camaro parked in a Calienta Drive early Saturday and took valuables worth $466.

Sandra Gail Beha told police that burglars had taken woman's gold ruby-and-diamond ring, a suede coat and several tapes. An in-dash mounted cassette player had been loosened from its mount but not removed. There are no suspects.

Valuables taken from Carlsbad Way home

PLEASANTON — More than $450 in goods were taken from Robert Rodney Reynolds' Carlsbad Way home Saturday, police reported.

Burglars apparently forced their way into a rear family room and took coats, a camera, radio, and table services.

There are no suspects.

Shoplifter arrested after brief chase

LIVERMORE — A 16-year-old Livermore youth was arrested Saturday night after he allegedly spirited two bottles of wine from the Country Market on Chestnut Street, police reported.

Officer Gaylen Johnson was on routine patrol when he saw a juvenile run from the store with a bottle in each hand. The youth hid under some bushes, but was observed under a spotlight and ordered out.

Two ½-gallon wine bottles were found in the bushes. The youth was booked on suspicion of burglary and released on a notice to appear in court.

Will airport plan be EIR?

LIVERMORE — The airport committee decided yesterday not to promote the idea of having the airport master plan serve also as an environmental impact report (EIR) for future projects at the facility — until after the city council approves the master plan.

Planning commissioners last week accepted the document, but recommended council not place the master plan as an element of the city's general plan. Council is expected to consider final acceptance of the plan next week.

John Kerekes, newly elected chairman of the airport committee, said without using the master plan as an EIR, "we would have to file individual EIR's with any new project in the next two years."

He suggested that "as a matter of expediency we should keep the EIR and master plan separate for now."

New vice chairman for the committee is Daryl Mailander.

During a discussion of the six year capital projects budget, which was approved, the committee resurrected the hangar and fixed base operations siting debate which took place during planning commission discussion of the master plan.

Last week Planner Bill Zagotta, a former airport committee member, urged using land now slated for a second FBO site for additional hangar space instead.

His replacement on the airport committee, Al Dishman, noted yesterday, "We're losing bucks without additional hangars."

Public Works Director Dan Lee told the committee enough aircraft were available to fill 30 more hangars. Airport Supervisor Gene Maestas said he had a list of 75 pilots, noting at least 15 people who called in one day last week requesting hangar space.

Dishman suggested using two of the 5.5 acres now designated for a second FBO, but concern was voiced such an action would eliminate a second runway on the north side of the airport.

Steve Patenaude offered a compromise solution which would include use of portable hangars which could be placed on the future FBO site, and later moved to the south side of the airport when development begins there.

The city charges $65 a month for hangars, $18 a month for unsheltered tie down spaces.

In other business, the airport committee:

— learned applications for land acquisition funding has been submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency.

— learned that the preliminary budget for next year will be presented at the committee's next monthly meeting.

— voiced concern about lack of transportation for visiting pilots between the airport and local motels.

— considered asking the city's beautification committee for landscaping suggestions near the developed sections of the airport.

Teachers probe Murray hopefuls

Communications was cited by all candidates as the primary need, along with greater emphasis on the three Rs, at the initial Murray School District candidates' session last night.

The pre-board gathering featured questions from a teachers' panel composed of Bill Garrison, Gary Evans and Allan Petersdorf Jr.

Presenting statements and answering questions were Donald Biddle, Linda Cooley, David Foster, incumbent Linda Jeffery and Harry Molz.

Candidates were asked for their opinions on what qualifications the district should look for in new teachers, what forms communications should take, role of the superintendent and reasons for shift of students to parochial schools.

Foster felt lack of a superintendent has hurt communications, that meetings were much too formal and that the superintendent should be a "listener, innovator and implementer."

Molz thought relating to children and dedication were prime assets for new teachers. He said he didn't believe former superintendent Donald Williams was trying very hard to communicate with citizens.

Mrs. Cooley said the new superintendent should have an awareness of the community and the changes going on it in.

Biddle, on the problem of a shift to private schools, said parents have a strong concern for discipline in public schools and teaching of basic skills.

Mrs. Jeffery said the consultant just hired would seek community input prior to the selection process. She stressed communications and greater emphasis on fourth - sixth grade curriculum.

Next candidates gathering is Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, 7068 Prince St., Dublin.

Dr. Leu picked by trustees

Murray School District Trustees ratified selection of Dr. Donald Leu to direct the search for a new superintendent.

The board also said it would consider rental of 10 classrooms at Dublin School to Valley Christian Center in 1977-78.

VCC proposed to house 250 K-6 students in one wing and coordinate recesses and lunch hours with approximately 350 Dublin K-6 students.

Trustees hired an architect to work on conversion of Frederiksen School.

Earlier, Steve Wallace of a Frederiksen citizens' group, said they have retained legal counsel in an attempt to block conversion of the schools to junior high status in 1977-78.

The board approved the proposed sale of two district held sites on Dublin Boulevard near Foremost and Stoneson off Foothill Road.

The former was originally intended for district offices. Murray also has the 27-acre Dolan site.

label, like cabernet sauvignon or chenin blanc, and come from officially recognized grape growing areas. The "specified regions" could range from a county down to a certain vineyard.

But the industry estimates perhaps 10 to 15 per cent of all American wine might come under the seal designation. And since the seal program proposed is voluntary, the majority of the millions of gallons of wine made in the state each year would be unaffected.

The seal, claim industry representatives, would indicate some assurance of quality, something the government says is unintended.

Concannon and Wente agree.

"The BATF proposals at first glance seem good," said Wente. "But anythin with the seal will be construed as better wine, and that's not necessarily the case."

A bottle of cabernet sauvignon from Fresno might be 90 or 100 per cent that grape and qualify for the seal, he said, but will not compare with a blend from two or three counties that may be only 75 per cent cabernet.

The BATF also proposes labeling wines "estate bottled" if they are sealed and if the winery holds legal control over grape growing.

That system, claim critics, would mean your favorite dinner wine could be labeled "estate bottled" under a Livermore or Napa Valley logo, but be grapes from an overabundant Southern California dust bowl.

All "estate bottled" Concannon and Wente wines are from grapes grown entirely on local vineyard property, the two local vintners said.

They both favor raising the current 51 per cent varietal requirement to the institute's recommendation of 75 per cent.

But the major change will come from a tightening of the "estate bottled" designation.

Right now a wine can be labeled "estate bottled" as long as the wine is bottled on the premises and the vintner owns the vineyards — regardless of where the vineyards may be.

The institute would limit that designation to the wine's appelation so that only grapes actually grown by the vintner could be "estate bottled."

Concannon would like to see European wines subject to the same scrutiny.

"Foreign wines should be produced under the same regulations as domestic wines," he said. The current, tradition bound European system "can just lead to fraud," he added pointing to the recent scandle in the Bordeaux region of France.

The French have dubbed it their "Winegate."

FEELINGS ARE REALITY

Dr. Crittendon Brookes, Psychiatrist, in his talk Saturday at the Chabot College Symposium, "I Celebrate Myself", stated that we are in the midst of a great revolution of human consciousness in the past 25 years. "We are returning to the magical, the mystical, to an acknowledgement of yearnings of an old nature, of the naturalistic, the psychic.

"We are raised in such a way that we see the material world as reality." He said that regardless of the material wealth we amass, "the displaced, the distorted yearnings of people, families, young and old, are not solved. Behavioral psychology has not made a perfect society. . . What about the psyche? Science cannot evaluate human experience. . . Joy, pain, pleasure and anxiety are not reducable to something else. The psychic world is not provable by scientific means."

He then spoke of the subjective point of view, common today. "The person operating on the phenomenalogical has a tendency toward conformity, an over - technological view, assumes that fantasy and dreams are unreal, unworthy of note." This person has "an intolerance of ambiguity, a fear of change and process, a clinging to one answer, one point of view.

"This person is dogmatic, the rational view devalues feelings as basis for action." He pointed out that this person considers "acting out" of emotions, instead of keeping them inside, to be bad. However, Dr. Brookes notes that "acting out" of feelings is a legitimate way of dealing with the world. Otherwise, "we miss vital parts of our life. Depression is the achilles heel of the rational point of view. (One has backed oneself into a corner.) Depression results from not acting out feelings. We need to recognize that feelings are just as legitimate as thoughts."

"You cannot intrude upon the meaning that another person gives his world. Under Newtonian physics of the 19th century, the extra-sensory cannot exist." Yet we know it exists. So, what is reality?

In the psychic world, validity is given to your own yearnings, what is really important to you. The way your feelings lead you is legitimate. Dr. Brookes spoke of peak experiences, a "high" you feel when you know the way you are feeling is RIGHT for you., in finding the REAL you, "Right-on" feelings come out of psychic reality.

Now, even nuclear physicists are dealing with the extremities of reality. Even they must now recognize the extra-sensory. G. Robert Oppenheimer, nuclear physicist, stated he was "forced to make paradoxical statements about the physical world." Brooks also noted that the thesis of Capra's The Tao of Physics, was that the thinking of physicists is close to that held by the mystical religionists for thousands of years, that now the best scientific minds are coming to the same conclusions as the great religionists, that the psyche universe is more real than the material or physical universe, that psychological events may supercede "rational" events.

Dr. Crittendon E. Brookes, Assistant Chief of Psychiatry at Mt. Zion Hospital, defined growth as being expansion of the individual psyche, and that the deeper self, the reasons for living, the personal myths of a person need no defense, they just are.

"Growth is self-awareness, looking inside, looking at areas which seem without substance, dreams, fantasies, moods, meditation. Growth is where you move your criterion for self - evaluation back inside yourself."

He spoke of the world we saw as children, the world of magic. "So we come full circle in our development, seeing life with wonder and awe, as little children."

Adela Bonner's study of creativity for a masters degree has taught her that you can express yourself in everything you do — even decorating hubcaps for a van!

Free your creativity

Today you are constantly urged to "Do your own thing" by friends, magazine articles, TV personalities and books. But do you know where to begin?

As part of her program of studies to complete a masters degree in Creativity (yes!), a program she designed herself, Adela Bonner of Livermore is learning how to free people to turn on to their own creative impulse.

"Creativity is the ability to do anything in your own way," Adela explains. "The more there is of ME in what I do, the more creative I am. My goal is to find ways to help people discover their pattern of creativity, to deepen and widen their experiences which are the raw material of creativity, to exercise little-used senses, and trust themselves."

Adela admits that her own creative potential was locked up for many years by self-imposed restrictions, and that her study of transactional analysis and creativity has resulted in tremendous personal growth. Her approach in freeing others to make choices for themselves is full of humor and understanding.

She promises 101 ways to be more creative in a workshop for about 10 people which begins this month at her home and continues for six weekly sessions from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Interested persons should contact Adela by Feb. 12 at 447-2781.

News of the Murray School District

(The following articles are prepared by the Murray School District for this monthly column on news of the district)

Within each school distict are a number of children who are identified as educationally handicapped. These children, due to a specific learning disability involving the use of spoken or written language, are enrolled in special learning programs.

THE CHILDREN ATTENDING Learning Diability Group classes (LDG) are referred to a school committee usually comprised of a school administrator, psychologist, speech clinician, counselor, school nurse, reading specialist, LDG teacher, and the referring classroom teacher.

With parental approval, a diagnostic testing program is initiated.

The results may indicate the need for a special education program. The certification and specific placement decision is made by a committee of district specialists after reviewing the diagnostic results, both written and oral.

LDG students are of average or above average intelligence, however, their actual performance differs from their measurable learning ability. Because of this discrepancy, the children function below the range expected from children of similar age and ability. Among the many causes of this discrepancy are: perceptual handicaps, minimal brain dysfunction, communication disorders and behavioral difficulties.

Utilizing the information gathered during the diagnostic testing period, a learning plan is devised which outlines areas of remediation plus various methods and materials to use in order to help the child succeed.

Students are enrolled in a regular classroom and receive help from a LDG teacher anywhere from one to three periods a day, depending on his specific needs. Scheduling and programing is a joint effort of classroom teacher and specialist.

There may be from one to eight students scheduled to work with the LDG teacher or any given periods of time. Students work in either a specifically designated room or within the regular classroom setting. The type of lessons vary as to level and area according to the current needs of each pupil. Work assigned may be a reinforcement of classroom assignments or in specific skill areas such as the development of auditory or visual perceptive skills.

The greater the degree of open communication between parent, classroom teacher and specialist, the greater the possibility of child success.

Within the Murray School District there are four Learning Disability teachers actively involved with 52 children. This program is supplemented by district assigned special resource teachers servicing 18 additional pupils. As children's needs are being assessed throughout the school year, there exist waiting lists for diagnostic review, for certification and/or placement.

When a child is able to function with success both academically and socially at a level equal to students within his age or grade level, he returns to the regular classroom full time. However, he may remain in the EH program as an inactive participant allowing for reinstatement, if necessary, in the future.

CAREER EDUCATION

For the past four months a cadre of teachers at Wells Intermediate School have been involved in the beginning stages of the development of a Career Awareness Program for students.

The formation of this committee came about as a result of the staff's feeling a need and/or obligation to inform its students as thoroughly as possible about their opportunities in professions and vocations.

Led by the school counselors, Marcia Bennett and Dick Winslow, a Volunteer Advisory Committee was formed whose responsibility was identified as directing and guiding the development and implementation of this program.

This voluntary committee consisted fo nine staff members who represented seven different subject areas. Through after-school group meetings, the advisory committee has thus far:

(A) Commenced the development of a Career Resource Center located in the school library or materials center. This center will house the many periodicals, visual aids, etc., which will serve as informational and resource material for classes and students.

(B) Become involved in the development of curriculum materials through letters to industries, government sources, and schools with programs already in progress.

(C) Arranged lists for advisory committee members to schools with existing programs, local colleges, and local industries.

(D) Developed and adopted a student "needs and interest survey."

The results of this survey reflected the interests of the students in particular areas as well as which vocations or professions needed more informaion. By a wide margin the majority of the students were interested in the professional, technical, and managerial fields.

More specifically, they wanted to become doctors, lawyers, and teachers. This was expressed predominantly by the boys while the Wells girls felt a deep interest in the traditional female occupations such as stewardesses, secretaries, models, and nurses, etc.

These results indicated to the advisory committee that a career awareness course should emphasize to the students what educational background and effort is needed to succeed at these professions as well as reinforcing the idea that any of these positions are open to both males or females.

Less than two per cent of the student body expressed any interest in factory work, lumber mills, assembly lines, or general repair work. Additional information gathering revealed students desire work with both hands and head, both inside and outside, and a strong desire to work in the company of others as opposed to working alone. Plans after high school graduation showed about 56 per cent wanting to go to college.

Finally, about 80 per cent expressed a strong desire to be better informed regarding occupations and professions and hope that this school and a career explorations program would serve that need.

Future plans include the development of a mini-course in career exploration for all incoming seventh grade students— a sort of orientation approach. This course would involve the use of the center, career cluster grouping, and additional interest inventories. By the middle of the 1977-78 school year, Wells Intermediate School plans to have integrated a Career Exploration course as a functional part of the overall school curriculum with the emphasis on association with the various subject areas.

ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION GRANT

Currently, and for the past seven years, the Murray School District has operated a resident Outdoor School for its sixth grade students. Five years ago we also began to include our fifth, seventh, and eighth graders. Three years ago we began a summer program for fifth through eighth graders.

This year's program is directed by Diane Griffiths and Cliff Crain who are the on-site directors. When the Outdoor Schools are not in operation, they assume other district-wide responsibilities in environmental education.

Our need at this time is to fully develop a clearly defined curriculum guide for each of our programs which will include: on-site objectives, activities, and experiences; pre-site objectives, activities, and experiences; and post-site objectives, activities, and experiences. Workshops for implementation of this curriculum guide will be presented to all involved teachers and administrators.

We are very pleased to report that we have been contacted by Jay Tisman of the State Office of Curriculum Services to inform us that our project has been selected for funding.

Seventy - seven proposals were submitted and 19 were selected. His only request was that we reduce our proposal to a budget of $1,000 instead of our original figure of $1,300.

Members of the Outdoor Education staff will review the project and make recommendations for changes to fit the new funding level. We are all looking forward to working on this project over the next year.

Rincon ECE review

'Good program' reflected

LIVERMORE — "We have a good program and our monitor and review reflects it."

A proud Bob Hill, principal of Rincon School, looked over the school's first Early Childhood Education (ECE) program evaluation, completed last week by a two - woman team. On a six - point scale of "unacceptable" to "excellent," Rincon's program rated "very good" in two categories and "good" in the third.

State "monitor and review" visits are a required part of the ECE program, which is a statewide project designed to upgrade primary education. Launched three years ago, ECE pours tens of thousands of dollars into each designated school, for the purpose of providing teachers, aides, specialists and materials to bolster the kindergarten through third grade program.

In turn, state guidelines demand an average of three adults (teachers, paid aides or volunteers) in every primary classroom; individualization of program; a variety of learning materials beyond the usual textbooks and maps; school - wide plans and goals; and intense parent involvement with the school.

Rincon School's "monitor and review" visit heralds a string of evaluations planned this month in Livermore for Arroyo Seco, Rancho, Fifth Street and Henry Schools. Already monitored in the past have been Portola, Arroyo Mocho and Marylin Schools.

If all this year's reviews go well, Livermore will receive money next year to fund ECE programs at some of he other elementary schools. The district is already receiving some $350,000 in state ECE funding.

Rincon's recently received evaluation shows, according to principal Hill, that "individualization is our real strength." Some items on the "Commendations" list: "staff has a high level of participation and respect for one another" ... "child is being viewed as a whole, total being" ... "students are being given choice"... "staff use of Dr. Lowery's (talks on) Piaget Stages of Development ...is excellent"...

Recommendations, for the most part, consist of "minor things we can easily take care of," says Hill. They include refinements in record keeping; more in - service training for aides; a "more thorough diagnosis of each child before the prescription is presented;" and continuing efforts to draw parents into school activities.

Vintage Hills ECE rated 'good'

PLEASANTON— The state monitor and review of the Early Childhood Education program at Vintage Hills School has resulted in an overall "good" evaluation.

A two-prson team from the state Department of Education spent a full day at the Pleasanton Joint School District's newest facility, talking with teachers, parents and administrators Jim Scott, principal, and Phyllis Clark, teaching vice principal.

The state looks at the ECE program in three specific areas related to planning, development and continuing program. Each of the areas is rated on a 0-5 scale with "5" excellent, "4" very good, "3" good, "2" adequate, and "1" and "0" both considered below average.

Mrs. Clark added all the scores in the three areas checked and noted the total ECE program at Vintage Hills earned a 3.1 rating considered extremely good for a first-year program.

Fairlands has been in the program for three years and is the forerunner school in the district. Valley View School will receive its monitor and review Wednesday.

Parent participation and involvement in ECE at Vintage Hills was rated excellent. The school has grades kindergarten through third grade so every student in the school is part of the program.

Mrs. Clark and Del Warren, teaching vice principal at Valley View, note that advance planning for ECE began last April. The committee, chaired by Roger Manning, and including 22 parents, instructional aides, and teachers, met almost a dozen times prior to submitting the final plan in June.

The school staff is requird to do a pre-monitor of itself prior to the review as a further check of the school's preparedness for taking on the state program.

As it turned out, the staff was not absolutely certain there'd be an ECE program over the summer as funding didn't occur to Sept. 10, according to Mrs. Clark.

But the program is now in full swing, involving 249 students and with every indication that all are benefiting from this program that emphasizes individual attention on the 3 R's.

Livermore candidates

Negotiations tact hit

Livermore Unified School District board candidate Richard D. Gower criticized the current board's approach to teacher negotiations in a recent news release.

According to Gower, "Another area where there is great misunderstanding by our present school board is their unyielding idea that meet and confer negotiations, and compulsory binding arbitration is in fact a threat to their control over the school board.

"The truth of the matter is that compulsory binding arbitration is the answer to elimination of strikes and labor disputes.

"Issues would be decided upon by experts, unrelated to either side, base on facts presented by both sides as a judge does in many civil cases.

"By saying they refuse to allow arbitration, because it will threaten their authority or control, the board is in fact saying they are unwilling to negotiate and come to a reasonable agreement. Therefore, arbitration is definitely needed.

"This is an area of much concern to teachers, since most are opposed to striking and would prefer to stay on the job while an arbitrator decided the case. Their absence in classrooms greatly affects students' education as well as tax dollars.

"If you are satisfied with the present school board and the educational system they support, return them to office. If you are unsatisfied, let's get together and make the necessary improvements that are so vital to your children and your tax dollars."

East Bay Poll

Cowboys get mentioned

Livermore High School received an honorable mention, along with East Bay Athletic League clubs Amador Valley and Monte Vista in the East Bay Prep-writer's Basketball poll released this morning.

With an overall record of 11-8 and a league slate of 7-2, the 'Pokes barely missed taking 15th spot away from Mt. Eden, leaders in the Hayward Area Athletic League.

The Dons, although losing again to Monte Vista, held on to a spot on the poll while the 12-6 Mustangs also nabbed a mention.

The Cowboys topped a tough Granada squad, 58-56, after defeating Monte Vista earlier in the week. Tim Jenkins combined for 51 points in the two contests.

Fremont High defeated McClymonds to remain tops in the poll.

Livermore will try and remain in at least a tie for first place when they visit Dublin tomorrow evening.

The Gaels picked up their first win of the EBAL campaign last week in a 58-44 win over Foothill. Heading into the game with Livermore, the Gaels will have to receive another offensive output from leading scorer Jim Boulware, who canned 19 points in the game against Foothill. Jeff Barnes and Chuck Gangnuss also hit double figures in that game.

Led by Tim Jenkins and Mark McCreary, who hit the winning basket in a 58-56 win over Granada, the 'Pokes only problem seems to be their bench. If one of their five starters gets in foul trouble, then it's an uphill battle. Coach John Jones is reluctant to substitute for his team, evidenced by the fact Livermore played all five starters the whole game against the Mats.

Amador Valley's team, struggling as of late, still finds itself tied with the 'Pokes in first place, but immediately finds the going rough again as they face Granada in Livermore

Both teams are coming off biting losses, the Dons falling prey to a hungry Monte Vista squad 78-69 in a game that wasn't really that close.

The Mustangs, 6-3, are fighting for one of four playoff spots along with the Mats and San Ramon, both at 6-3. Thrown in the 'Pokes and Dons, and five teams still harbor real possibilities of an EBAL championship with one game separating them all.

California High attempts to shake things up a bit when they play the Mustangs. The Grizzlies, whose only win came against Dublin, played the Mustangs tough in their last outing. They scored 84 points, but forgot about defense as the 'Stangs blitzed for 91 to take the win.

Tomorrow's final game will pit Foothill (2-7) against San Ramon. The Wolves are off a 66-48 drubbing of Cal, while the Falcons try and shake their five-game losing skein.

Friday's games will pit Granada and Monte Vista in a prime battle in Alamo, Livermore hosting San Ramon, Dublin visiting Amador and California meeting Foothill.

Jenner receives Sullivan Memorial

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Bruce Jenner expected it, and he got it — the James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy from the Amateur Athletic Union as the outstanding amateur athlete in the United States

The Olympic decathlon champion, who set a world record 8,618 points in the gruelling 10 - event track and field test, beat out swimmer John Naber and figure skater Dorothy Hamill, both also Olympic gold medal winners.

"This is the perfect way to end my athletic career," declared Jenner Monday when the award was announced. "I can walk away from athletics very well satisfied."

Asked if he expected to win the Sullivan Award this time, after being second a year ago, Jenner smiled and answered, "I'd have to say, yes, I did.

"I had a better season than I had the year before."

Jenner, 27, who now lives in nearby Malibu, scored 4,017 points while Naber, the Olympics swimming star from Menlo Park, Calif., had 2,314 and Miss Hamill, of Riverside, Conn., 1,718.

All 10 finalists were on the USA Olympic team.

The award honors the founder of the AAU and was first given to golfer Bobby Jones in 1930. Jenner became the 47th recipient.

He also became the 18th Californian honored although Jenner actually is a native of Mt. Kisco, N.Y., and attended Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa.

In a final burst of speed at the Montreal Olympics, Jenner sprinted the last 300 yards of the concluding 1,500-meter run event at the decathlon to become the first to score more than 8,600 points. Guido Kratschmer of East Germany finished second to win the silver medal with Russia's Nikolai Avilow, the 1972 winner, third.

Avilov had held the world record going into the Olympics with 8,454 points.

Jenner had to leave immediately after the presentation for Hawaii, where he will work on the filming of the American Broadcasting Company's Team Superstars competition.

However, he said reports of instant riches after his decathlon victory were simply media buildup.

"That gold medal meant more to me than all the money in the world," he said. "The emphasis the media made of possible financial rewards tarnished the victory a little."

The other seven athletes in the final Sullivan voting were diver Jenni Chandler, boxer Howard Davis, wrestler John Peterson and long jumper Arnie Robinson.

Jenner voiced a word of warning — the United States won't fare so well in the future — especially at Moscow in 1980 — if athletes don't receive more support than in the past.

"I really think the AAU and other organizations must get their stuff organized better," he declared.

Dons, Mats go for it all

Granada High School attempts to snatch away a two-school dynasty of East Bay Athletic League soccer today when they host Amador Valley High at 3 p.m. in the final, deciding match of the season.

Amador leads the Mats by one point, 21-20, having compiled a 10-2-1 record. Ever since the Dons lost a 3-2 game to Dublin two weeks into the season, they have yet to lose another match.

The Mats, 9-2-2 on the year, defeated Amador in their first meeting last December, but suffered crucial losses to Monte Vista and Foothill while tying Livermore and California in the second half. The Dons also tied the 'Pokes in the first half before knocking Livermore out of the title chase with a 2-1 win last week.

Ever since EBAL soccer was established, the Cowboys and Dons have shared the spotlight, with Livermore taking the early years without a yawn. The Dons have had the upper hand as of late, attempting to repeat last year's title - winning season.

In the teams' final games of the regular season, Amador whipped California 6-0 and Granada eked by Foothill 2-1. The regular season match between the Dons and Mats was postponed earlier because of a sprinkler problem at Granada's field.

Granada coach Bill Coupei assessing his team's task after topping Foothill last Friday, itched the obvious by simply stating "They're a tough team. I think the key will be clearing the long kicks by their fullbacks."

USF entrenched on top

San Francisco, UCLA and Kentucky, the top three teams in The Associated Press college basketball poll, are right where they were a week ago. But Nevada - Las Vegas plummeted from fourth place to 10th in Tuesday's rankings.

San Francisco, unbeaten in 23 games, routed St. Mary's, Calif., 103-77 and Nevada - Reno 98-81 to hold on to its No. 1 ranking. The Dons received all but seven of the 58 first - place votes cast and amassed 1,115 points, 106 more than second - place UCLA.

The Bruins, who received six first - place votes, beat Tennessee 103-89 on national television, then knocked off Pacific-8 Conference rivals Washington 75-65 and Washington State 72-59. The only other first - place vote went to eighth - ranked Minnesota.

Kentucky's Wildcats, 16-2, edged Mississippi State 92-85, then mauled Vanderbilt 113-73 to stay No. 3 with 800 points. The Rebels of Nevada - Las Vegas started out the week by edging Bradley 107-106. But they were beaten 88-84 by Illinois State and barely beat Rutgers 89-88 to drop six spots to 10th.

What the artist Christo did for the Marin County landscape by wrapping it with a running fence made from cloth, Deanna Strope accomplished on a smaller scale in a humbler medium, toilet paper. Strope is a "stat girl" who keeps statistics for Granada High School wrestler Roy Davis.

Knowing that Davis had a big match coming up against Livermore High School a few nights ago, Strope decorated the Davis home on El Caminito in Livermore and added the finishing touch over the garage, a sign which says, "Do it, Davis."

NFL owners, players feel tension

WASHINGTON — Negotiators for the National Football League owners and the players union, feeling the pressure of the absence of a draft, are talking optimistically about resolving their long - embattled labor problems.

Representatives of the two groups meet in Washington Tuesday in a continuation of sessions held in Los Angeles during Super Bowl week, in San Diego during Pro Bowl preparations and in New Orleans two weeks ago.

Both sides agree the annual college draft, ruled illegal by a federal judge last fall, is a major obstacle which must be resolved quickly. The NFL can expect lawsuits soon from top collegiate players who want to begin negotiations with a future employer.

"I think the pressure to solve this problem is real because of the question mark around the draft," said Terry Bledsoe, executive director of the NFL Management Council, which represents the owners.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players union, said he believes that if a new contract is not agreed to within the next week or two, "there is no reason to have meetings for quite a while. We'll just see what happens."

Garvey has said several agents have indicated they would file suit if the owners and union don't sign a new collective bargaining agreement to replace the one that ended about three years ago.

Garvey said most of the issues between the union and management "are out of the way," such as a retirement plan, when contributions are to be made and per diem pay for players. Bledsoe said only that owners and players are closer on some issues than on others.

Garvey cited other issues, in addition to the draft, on which the two sides are far apart — the Rozelle Rule on compensation, the right of a veteran to cancel a trade or ask for his release when placed on waivers, the commissioner's right to discipline players for off - the - field activities not affecting the integrity of the game but its image, preseason pay, the length of the season and injury protection.

"By Wednesday night, we should know what issues separate us," said Garvey. "Hopefully, there will be a lot fewer than now."

Said Bledsoe: "The clubs have decisions that need to be made. The pressure is real and it may not be unhealthy ... The question of the draft could be a key to some of the other things."

Gurney reaches USAC auto run

SAN JOSE — Fresh from a recent win in the Copper World Classic sprint-car sweepstakes in Phoenix, Ariz., 27-year-old Chuck Gurney of Livermore is one of five early entries for the 11th annual 100-lap USAC National Championship Midget auto races to be contested at the Speedway here, Feb. 20.

Gurney dominated the 40-mile event on the one-mile paved oval in Phoenix, setting a one-lap track record in time trials before leading wire to wire to take the sprint-car feature of the $30,000 event.

The seventh-ranked driver in last year's United States Auto Club sprint-car point standings, Gurney has signed to drive the potent Hucke-Maxwell Volkswagen-powered machine from Santa Rosa in the eight-event card on the high-banked one-third mile paved oval here.

He was battling USAC national midget champion Sleepy Tripp of Costa Mesa for the lead in last year's race, traditional outdoor season opener in Northern California, when the two banged wheels.

Gurney slammed into the north turn crash wall almost head-on while travelling faster than 100 miles per hour.

"I'll be out for revenge in this year's race," the son of former BCRA midget-driving star Gene Gurney said. "I won my heat race last year and was set to pass Tripp for the lead when we tangled. This year will be different."

Castlewood hosts Seals

Three Oakland Raider players have already signed up for the 288 player Easter Seals Celebrity golf tournament to be played on both Castlewood Country Club courses on April Fool's Day.

All three are local residents: guard Gene Upshaw, who lives almost in the shadow of the Pleasanton course's clubhouse; linebacker Phil Villapiano and running back Pete Banaszak, both of San Ramon.

The event, it is hoped, will raise $50,000 for the Easter Seals charity and is sponsored by Pacific States Aviation, Holiday Inn and Dollar Rent-a-Car, who plan to make the event an annual affair.

Tourney organizers claim to have many entertainment stars interested in playing in the four - player best ball event. Tax - deductible entry fee is $100 and includes the awards dinner, which also features entertainment.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife eats a lot of ice. Do you think it would hurt her in any way?

DEAR READER — The ice won't, but the reason she is eating lots of ice might be important. People sometimes develop a habit of eating large amounts of strange things, including clay, laundry starch and ice. There are medical reports of some people eating over four pounds of ice a day.

Such strange eating habits are associated with iron deficiency. Usually, if that is the problem, replenishing the body stores with iron will correct the problem. We call this condition pica. It is of medical importance when children are picking off old paint containing lead from old buildings and getting lead poisoning.

If nothing else I think you should have your wife at least take a daily vitamin tablet that contains iron. She may not be anemic and still have an iron deficiency. When this is the cause of strange eating habits, once the iron deficiency is corrected, the person may have an aversion to the food that was once an obsession. Your wife may then not care for ice at all.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-4, Iron and Anemia, to give you other information on iron deficiencies. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Yesterday my sister offered my mother some wine she had made. I told my mother she shouldn't drink wine when she is taking medicine. In a rude manner my sister told me to shut up and my mother said the little medicine she takes doesn't make any difference.

My mother takes 15 mg. of Triavil a day. She has been suffering from severe psychoneurosis for over 40 years. The first part of this year she had a complete mental breakdown. Her doctor told me she should not drink alcohol while she is taking tranquilizers.

I have heard that alcohol prevents medicine from doing its job. Is that right? How much alcohol can a person drink while taking medicine without doing any harm?

DEAR READER — Don't be upset with your sister. She probably doesn't understand the problem. I must warn people, though, that when the doctor says no alcohol it means NO ALCOHOL!

It is not just a question of whether the alcohol will prevent the medicine from working effectively. In some instances it causes the medicine to be far stronger than intended. Thus a person taking sleeping pills and alcohol may get a combined effect that is far worse than the same amount of either would have been. That is how some individuals using the combination end up as suicides.

To take another example, Flagyl — a medicine used commonly in treatment of women's infections — reacts chemically with alcohol somewhat like Antabuse used in treating alcoholics, and may cause nausea, vomiting and shock with circulatory collapse. In some cases the combination can be life-threatening.

Triavil is a combination medicine containing Elavil. Elavil acts with alcohol in the same way that barbiturates do and the combination can be dangerous.

How much is dangerous? That depends on what medicine the person is taking an how much. In some instances even a very small amount of alcohol can trigger an undesirable reaction as I mentioned in reference to Antabuse. Its action in this regard is helpful in forcing an alcoholic to not touch a single drink.

I often wonder how many patients realize the importance of following instructions. Failure to do so may have more serious consequences in some instances than just failure to obtain the maximum benefits from treatment.

Q. "WHO WAS HERCULES?"
A. HERCULES, OR HERACLES, WAS A MYTHICAL STRONGMAN OF GREEK LEGEND. HE WAS NOTED FOR HAVING PERFORMED 12 GREAT TASKS IMPOSED UPON HIM.

Hercules, or Heracles, was one of the most famous heroes of Greek mythology. He was famous for his super strength.

According to legend, Hercules was the son of Zeus, leader of the gods, and Alcmene, a mortal (human) princess.

The goddess Hera hated Hercules, because she was jealous of Alcmene. Hera tricked Hercules into becoming the servant of his cousin, King Eurystheus.

To obtain his freedom, Hercules had to perform 12 almost impossible tasks, which are often called the "Twelve Labors of Hercules."

One of these tasks was to slay a terrible nine-headed monster. Another apparently impossible task was to clean the Augean stables, which held a herd of 3,000 oxen and had not been cleaned for 30 years.

Hercules directed the course of two rivers into the stables and cleaned them in a day.

Hercules won immortality and went to live on Mount Olympus with the gods.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In rebidding after you start with a forcing two bid, you should try to keep in mind that you have already shown a very good hand. Hence, you should try to bid delicately and not always leap into a slam merely because you have heard a positive response. In the next few articles we will show examples of successful rebidding and suggest a few conventions to use with your regular partners.

The first valuable convention is that when you jump rebid in your suit you are showing both a solid suit and an opening two bid that is rather shy on high cards.

South will make a grand slam if West opens a spade or a club. He will make six against a heart lead and will be held to five if a diamond is opened.

North knows there must be some danger, somewhere after South's rebid takes the form of a jump in his own suit. Still, North feels that he should bid beyond game. North also knows that South does not need trump support so North invites the slam by bidding five spades.

South looks at his two quick diamond losers and passes right there.

Ask the Jacobys

We continue with our discussion of differences between rubber and duplicate laws.

One conspicuous difference is the revoke penalty which is now just one trick in duplicate play with the provision that an adjustment can be made if a player gains by his revoke. It is still two tricks in rubber bridge, but will probably go to one when the new laws appear.

Hotline

Can you lend an ear?

Can you spend a few hours a week to lend an ear?

If so, Hotline/Project AIRE needs you to be a volunteer listener for their 24 - hour switchboard.

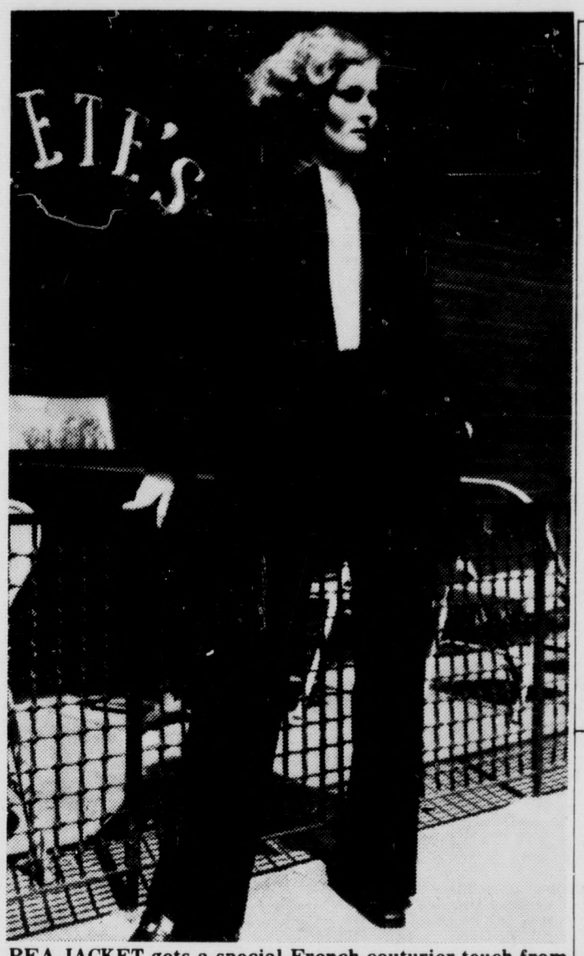
What will you get in return? Your reward will be a feeling of satisfaction.

You will provide callers with an opportunity to talk with someone who won't judge them; perhaps explore different alternatives with them; or generally be there to provide them with what they need.

You're saying: "I don't know how. I don't think I can do that." But Hotline trainer Darlen urges, "Wait — come and take our training before you make that decision."

There are no obligations to become a volunteer if, after training, you don't want to. The next training begins at 10 a.m. Feb. 9 for morning sessions, 7:30 p.m. Feb. 10 for the evening series, both to be at the Hotline/Project AIRE offices at 4361 Railroad Ave., Suite C, in downtown Pleasanton.

"The volunteer training is a rewarding experience. The focus is on active listening, a skill all of us can use in our daily lives," promises Darlene, who may be contacted at 462 - 5544 (the Hotline/AIRE offices) for details.



PEA JACKET gets a special French-couturier touch from Givenchy. He adds an A-line shape to this soft double-breasted black wool coat. Here it tops wool flannel pant with low-rise styling and straight leg, also by Givenchy, and a mock-turtleneck pullover.

Conductor to speak

The Diablo Symphony Guild will present Diablo Symphony Conductor John Pereira in the second of a series of pre - symphony lectures at 8 p.m. Thursday in the parlor of the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, 1720 Oakland Ave.

The intent of the lecture series is to offer concert-goers a preview of the music to be played during the Diablo Symphony concert season.

The next Diablo Symphony Orchestra concert, which will include the Mahler Fourth Symphony and pianist Pola Baytelman in a Mozart concerto, will be played at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 20, in the Walnut Creek Civic Arts Theater.

Mayor's race

Harvey Tulchinsky was the front-runner among several hopefuls for the honor of representing the Dublin Rotary Club in the upcoming race for Mayor of the Valley sponsored by the Dublin Lions. His campaign manager will be Dave Burton (right) who feels the mayor's race is a 'darn good idea' for generating community spirit and having fun. The two will pit their wit against five other candidates from valley clubs to raise the most money for the community beginning next week through May. Harvey is a past district officer and commander for the American Legion, twice president of the Alcosta Merchants Association, charter member and vice-president of the Dublin Historical Preservation Association, a Rotary member and officer since 1970. He owns and operates Harvey's One-Hour Martinizing in Dublin with his wife, Janet. They have two children.

Critical need here for child care workers

There are still a lot of job "openings" in a work - at - home profession almost anyone can handle.

It's child care.

According to Ruth Freis, director of the Valley Child Care agency, there's a critical need in the Valley for good quality child care, especially for infants under two and a half, and school - age children 5 to 10 years old.

"Family day care," says Ruth, "is child care in a home setting and is ideal for these ages. For infants it offers a small intimate setting with one significant adult and for school - age children it offers a home - base where the various needs of this active age can be met in a flexible way.

"Doing family day care gives you the opportunity and freedom of working in your own home, provides regular income, flexible hours and companionship for your own children."

Valley Child Care is a state funded independent, nonprofit corporation whose primary concern is expanding quality child care.

The agency can share child care fees with low - income parents who want their children to be in a good licensed home or day care center but can't afford it.

At the same time, the agency offers "providers" (babysitters or day care center directors) food and nutrition information; referral service for placements in your home; toy lending library through which providers may borrow anything from children's books to a playpen.

In addition, the center offers professional workshops on taxes, insurance, child development, activities for children and other topics suggested by providers.

"If you are interested in caring for children in your home," says Ruth, "please call Ann Peters or Courine Warren at Valley Child Care, 455 - 5111.

"Quality child care is important to our children and our community. Please help if you can!"

Elderly to be heard

MARTINEZ — If Contra Costa County senior citizens would like a chance to speak out about their needs, the Area Agency on Aging invites them to attend one of three public hearings this week.

All of the hearings will be held at 1 p.m.

The one for central county will be Tuesday in the Contra Costa County Water District Building, 1331 Concord Ave., Concord.

East county seniors can be heard Wednesday in the Antioch City Council Chambers, 212 H St.

The west county hearing is Thursday in the Bermuda Room of the Richmond Auditorium, 26th and Nevin.

Jane McClelland, director of the county's Office on Aging, said anyone wishing to make comments on plans for senior citizens but who is unable to attend one of the hearings is encouraged to write the Office on Aging. Their address is Room 200, 2450 Stanwell Drive, Concord.

Those attending will receive a progress report on the agency's work to date. They will also be able to help shape the county's program for the 1977-78 fiscal year, according to McClelland.

Once completed, the area plan must be approved by the Advisory Council on Aging and the County Board of Supervisors before being sent on to the state.

Copies of both the 1976-77 activity report and the proposed objectives for 1977-78 will be available at the hearings. They may also be obtained from the Office on Aging.

YMCA on life saving

Can you handle a "cafe coronary?"

That's another name for the frightening threat of choking to death from food lodged in the throat.

The Twin Valley office of the American Red Cross — located at 373 North L St., Livermore — has information on how to prevent a death from choking. Some 3,000 people per year die in minutes by asphyxiation when food or other objects stick in their throat, blocking off air passageways.

Rec leaders needed for summer work

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Services District Recreation Department is accepting applications for various positions for the spring session of classes, the summer aquatics program and the summer playground program.

Spring courses for which instructors are required include: Bridge, Women's Self Defense, Yoga, Gourmet Cooking, Oriental Cooking, Bicycle Repair and Safety, and Education for Parents of Infants.

A director of Physical Activity for the Elderly is needed plus an instructor of First Aid for the Elderly.

Summer employment will be available to anyone wishing to staff the two swim centers. Assistant Pool Managers, Instructor Guards and Lifeguards with current, valid certifications will soon be hired for the summer aquatics program. Rate of pay ranges from $2.40 to $3.80 and hour for 30 to 35 hours per week.

Playground leaders for this summer will also be hired. It is preferred that applicants have previous experience as recreation leaders. The rate of pay is between $2.65 and $3.35 per hour for 30 to 35 hours per week.

Interested persons may apply at Shannon Park Community Center, 11600 Shannon Ave., Dublin from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The deadline for the spring program applications is February 8.

The summer playground and aquatics applications will be accepted until early April.

For further information contact the VCSD Recreation Department at 828-7711.
